GOOD MORAL CHARACTER

An applicant must be of good moral character, which means that they can be trusted and are considered by those who know them to be a person of good reputation and good standing in the community. When conduct is of a nature that, if known, would tend to discredit the applicant as a police officer, the applicant will not be employed.

Good moral character will be determined by a thorough background investigation, which includes: polygraph examination; fingerprint search conducted of local, state and national fingerprint files; personal interviews of references, current and former employers and supervisors, neighbors and associates. Applicants will not be considered for employment if they have a confirmed history of previously hidden conduct involving moral turpitude, been convicted of a crime of moral turpitude or convicted of a felony. Moral turpitude is defined as an act of baseness, vileness, or depravity in the private and social duties which a person owes to another person, or to society in general, contrary to the accepted and customary rule of right and duty between people. It is conduct which is contrary to justice, honesty or good morals. The following nonexclusive list of acts has been held by courts to involve moral turpitude: Income tax evasion, perjury or its subordination, theft, indecent exposure, sex crimes, conspiracy to commit a crime, defrauding the government, and illegal drug sales. Various factors, however, may cause an offense or act, which is generally not regarded as constituting moral turpitude, to be regarded as such. For example, a record of a number of convictions for simple assault would involve moral turpitude, whereas a singular act would not.

The character of a person is determined by past behavior. Many factors are relevant in this assessment. The Grinnell Police Department seeks applicants whose histories show good judgment, maturity, a sense of responsibility, and the respect of others. Several factors will be considered:

1. Conviction or commission of a felony, aggravated misdemeanor, or serious misdemeanor as defined by Iowa Law (excluding traffic violation) will disqualify an applicant. Conviction or commission of any other public offense will be evaluated.
2. A consistent pattern of unexplained failures to meet debt obligations will be evaluated.
